Announcement of Deferred Dates for IT&CM China And CTW China 2020

Shanghai, 3 February 2020 – In light of the ongoing Novel Coronavirus, organisers of IT&CM China and CTW China have decided, in the interest, well-being and safety of all valued event delegates and stakeholders, to defer the 2020 event to 3 - 5 August, subject to the recovery and control of the outbreak.

This course of action of deferring mass gatherings including large-scale exhibitions and conferences like IT&CM China and CTW China, is in line with advisories by health and government authorities (e.g. WHO) to prevent, contain, and mitigate spread of the virus. Further, as the status of the outbreak is constantly evolving, the postponement of the event is deemed to be the most appropriate step at this point when travel risk to / within China is heightened, and health and safety are immediate concerns on the top of everyone's minds.

Organisers TTG and china-based CITS MICE will continue to monitor the situation closely and provide further updates when necessary.

For delegates and partners who have already confirmed your attendance for the event, your respective TTG liaison will be in touch shortly to review your participation options. You may also contact our teams for assistance.
